Canterbury Professors Team VS Students PICNIC & FOOTBALL IN RETIRO

June 17th

Picnic: 14:30 h. Football: 16:30 h
For Teachers, Students, Friends & Family

Where: Metro: Atocha. This will be the Seventeenth Annual Professors VS Students Picnic and Football game. First there will be a picnic beside La Chopera, Retiro Park in a beautiful shaded area with lots of trees, waterfalls and lakes. Just look for the Canterbury English Sign on the grass next to the football field. La Chopera is a recreational area with football fields and is in the part of Retiro directly behind El Museo del Prado (metro Atocha). You should enter Retiro at the Angel Caído (Fallen Angel) gate by walking up the Cuesta de Mollano from the Paseo del Prado next to Atocha. La Chopera is near the Fallen Angel statue (in case you get lost), because Retiro is a big park and if you come through another entrance you will have to walk a long way. After the picnic, kick-off for the game will be at 16:30h. There is a men's team and a women's team. Free: Sangria and the renting of the football field, compliments of Canterbury. On a lovely day in the month of June, come and play football with us in Retiro Park. Last year, the Canterbury Club Professor Team lost to the Spanish Team :5-7

The Terraza we have chosen (elegido) is the Terraza Café Monaguillo, which is located in an attractive square in the old town.

This elegant café-terrace offers an outstanding range of aromatic coffees, including Jamaican, Russian, Viennese and Irish varieties. While getting a tan on the grass or splashing around with friends to cool off in one of the two impressive pools that are united by a cascade, you can appreciate the majestic view of the green mountain peaks around you. It gives the impression that you are at a ski resort in Switzerland, but with no snow and lots of summer heat to beat by diving into the water. The only thing the pool lacks is Heidi's grandfather's cottage nestled against the Solarium!

On the Beach in Cadiz

Natives to Spain have their favorite beach spots picked out, but foreigners often don't know where to go. Caños de Meca is one of the pristine beaches in Spain. It is near a small coastal town in Andalusia, known for its beautiful nature and fun time. It is found on the west coats of Cádiz, 10 kilometers from Barbate. Caños de Meca is an odd mix of hippie vibe mixed with surfer's and kite runner's energy.

Caños de Meca is located at the very southern tip of Spain where across the water lies Morocco. This beach is called Meca for a reason, it hosts a beautiful, natural environment of crystalline water and white sand. Magnificent cliffs, straddled with pine trees, overlook the ocean. region like to test their courage by cliff diving into the Atlantic but if that is not for you, you can simply enjoy the view. This long strip of beach offers accommodations for every type of beach lover, from those who just want to swim, tan nude in the sun, or wave surf in the ocean. One can ride horses through the waves or walk through the natural park protecting the beach. At night, bars along the beach, such as El Pirata, open up for dancing and drinks. Caños de Meca is the perfect place for a weekend get-away and relaxation in the sun. - Lily Witus

Student of the Summer:
Almudena Bailador Ferraras

Almudena is an excellent student, she is a natural linguist and already has a good command of the English language. She is conscientious, well mannered and has a great temperament. Her fondness for the English language comes through in the lessons, and if she continues to study and practice English, she will certainly reach fluency level when she is older.

Professor of the Summer:
Harry Lynch

I have a somewhat varied background born in Norway, Irish by nationality, schooled in England, raised in Africa and I lived in the United States for a number of years. I came into teaching only recently, about 3 years ago, after spending nearly 20 years in the hospitality industry, mainly hotels and restaurants.

I really enjoy teaching and the variety of challenges that it brings. I came to Madrid at the end of October last year, and find it to be a great city in which to live and work. However, my Spanish is still really bad!
